Police chief issues warning

Dumpster and trash fires are plaguing the city, according to reports from the Romulus Fire Department. The fire department responded to approximately 80 fires of this kind over the past four months and they have become a cause of concern.

"Romulus firefighters are paid by the run," said Police Chief Donald Flood, "and, therefore, these runs are not only dangerous but costly as well.

"We urge all citizens to cooperate by reporting to police any person or persons who set a dumpster on fire," Chief Flood added.

Residents can phone 941-8400 with the information.

The fire officials also urge residents and businessmen to close and secure the lids to all dumpsters when and if possible.

Seniors plan Valentine's Party

The Huron Township Senior Citizens will hold a Valentine's Party, beginning at 5 p.m., Mon., Feb. 21 at the Huron Community Center in Waltz. A buffet dinner of baked ham and chicken with all the trimmings is planned.

Early reservations are necessary and the deadline to get them in is Feb. 17. There is a $3 admission charge for Huron Township senior citizen. Reservations may be made at Renton Junior High's Nutrition Site from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The Tri-County Democratic Club is hosting a Valentine's Party from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m., Sat., Feb. 12 at the Belle Plaza Hall, 859 Sumpter Rd., in Belleville.

Tickets are $10 per person and the admission charge includes a chicken buffet dinner. Tickets are available at the door or by telephoning 753-4167.

Church supper, anyone?

Willow United Methodist Church, 36925 Willow Rd., New Boston, will begin serving a "Home Style Chicken Supper" at 5 p.m., Wed., Feb. 9. The proceeds will be used for church functions.

Carryouts will be made available, and there is a $4 charge for adults. Children between the ages of 6 to 12 will pay $2.50. Pre-schoolers may feast for free.

The Ushers of St. John's Lutheran Church will host a potato pancake supper at 4:30 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 11. Donations are $4.25 for adults; $2.50 for teen-agers and $1.25 for children.

The church is located at Telegraph and Northline. For further information contact Pearl Sell at 941-0443.

City property assessments decline

It's good news for taxpayers, but deepens budget problems

There was some good and welcome news for Romulus taxpayers - residential property assessments will decrease 6.38 percent in 1983, according to city assessor, JoLynn DeBuysscher.

"The decrease is attributed in part by the declining real estate market we have experienced during the past two years," Mrs. DeBuysscher noted.

"What we have seen are individuals who have attempted to sell their homes for top market values, waiting for the market to improve, being forced to sell for less than expected. This, in turn, established a market value below that of last year," Mrs. DeBuysscher.

The welcome relief for taxpayers will inevitably have an effect on the city's already depressed fiscal picture. The assessments will mean a loss in city revenues of approximately $100,000.

However, Mayor William Oakley said the city and the administration have expected the news for some time. He then added: "We work for the citizens who pay the taxes, and even though this decrease in revenues is going to put a burden in the city's budget, it will help the taxpayers who have suffered over the years.

"And, I believe that if we continue to pursue a conservative attitude towards spending, as we have in the past, the citizens of this city will not feel a cut in their services," Mayor Oakley concluded.

Mrs. DeBuysscher pointed out that a "12 months sales study was prepared comprised of 134 sales (of homes) taking place in Romulus during 1982 and the first six months of the year showed a dramatic decline in sales.

"However, the second half of 1982 picked up slightly, perhaps indicating values (of homes) may be improving in the market place," she said.

Notices will be mailed to all taxpayers, apprising them of their individual tax assessments, the city assessor added. "If your name is not recorded on the assessment rolls, you may miss receiving notification.

"I urge anyone who doesn't receive notification of their tax assessment by March 14 to contact the Assessor's Office to review their assessment. I am happy to announce the decrease in assessments because any reduction in the tax bill today is certainly good news for the taxpayer," Mrs. DeBuysscher concluded.

High style

Leslie Rakotz and John Kennedy of Romulus were among the 25 area residents between the ages of 13 and 25 chosen to participate in the 1983 Fairlane Town Center Fashion Panel. Members of the panel will gain valuable experience in modeling, dancing, and other performing arts as they become integral parts of the fashion presentations featured at the Center. The 1983 Fashion Panel will be active through next November. Leslie was one of 40 semi-finalists competing in talent, personality and poise contests. She is a 9th grade student at Aquinas. John is a senior at Romulus High.

Van Buren couple perishes in fire

A Van Buren Township couple perished early yesterday morning in a fire that swept through their home.

The victims have been positively identified as Paul Vance and his wife, Frances. The Vances resided at 46670 Bemis Rd.

Township officials said that they do not have enough information at this time to determine the cause of the fire. State and local fire officials were at the scene going through the charred ruins.

According to reports, Vance was attempting to get his wife out of the burning building when the roof of the building collapsed. Mrs. Vance suffered from multiple sclerosis, and had been confined to a wheelchair.

Vance, 51, has been employed as a mailman at the Belleville Post Office since 1960 and "was well known and liked by everyone in the community."

"He was an excellent worker and recently received several awards," said Belleville Postmaster Patrick Tobin. "We are all shocked by this news."

Vance began work at the local post office as a substitute carrier in 1960 and has been a regular since 1979.

Van Buren Police Chief Leonard Keller said that "the point of origin of the fire has not been determined. And, at this time, we can't determine the cause of the fire. Our investigation is continuing."

Chief Keller revealed that the family dog was also found dead in the house.

Firefighters from Van Buren and Sumpter fought the blaze, which began around 3:45 a.m.

"The bodies of the victims were discovered on the floor in the kitchen," Chief Keller added. "Autopsies are being performed and we're waiting for the results."

Local fire officials are being assisted by the Michigan State Police Arson Investigation Unit.

Although Chief Keller said he could not estimate damage to the house, "the dwelling was completely destroyed."

City Council rejects Wineman request for mobile park home

Successfully arguing that the city doesn't need a third mobile home park and that the project violated the city's Master Plan, councilman Jimmie Raspberry last Tuesday rallied enough support to defeat a rezoning request by the Wineman Investment Company.

Wineman, through their attorney Richard Komer, had come before City Council for approval to rezone a 200-acre parcel on Venoy from residential to a district that would permit mobile homes.

Wineman proposed to construct the 1,000 unit mobile home park on land between Ecorse and Wick Rd. Although the Planning Commission approved the project by a 4-3 margin, the council turned it down 4-2 with one abstention.

Supporting Raspberry's motion were councilmen John Lewkowicz, Alan Lambert and Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks. Voting against the motion were councilman Peter Bergeron and Fred Junior Block. Councilman Barry Baumann abstained.

The vote climaxed a year-long battle by Wineman to receive approval for the rezoning.

Raspberry said that he was adamantly opposed to the project for several reasons.

"I offered the motion to reject the Planning Commission's recommendations for the Wineman property rezoning because the project constitutes 'spot zoning' and also violates the current Master Plan for this city.

"It also poses an adverse economic impact on our already overburdened schools," councilman Raspberry continued. "Added to this is the cost the city would incur to supply the park with fire and police protection and other services," Raspberry said.

Raspberry pointed out that figures offered by the Wineman regarding what the project would generate in tax dollars were "not true". "They're saying we would receive thousands of dollars in taxes and I'm saying that the Supreme Court is clear when it comes to what we can charge mobile homes. They're covered under the Mobile Home Act, and I'm saying that, according to law, the city may charge $3 per unit. And 50 cents of that goes to the county, and 50 cents to the city. The rest goes to schools."

Richard Komer, an associate of Wineman's and an attorney, disagreed with Raspberry. He said that the city would be able to tax any and all businesses that would serve the mobile homes, any land improvement and water and sewer fees. He offered a figure of more than $500,000 annually in taxes that would be available to the city.

Komer later said that the council's decision "continues a pattern of no hope for the future for its citizens and is a signal to other potential developers to avoid Romulus as a no-growth area."

"What we're asking now is for you to delay action until we can further present our case to you," Komer appealed to councilmembers. "We would like a workshop to point out some of these things. There is obvious confusion and misinformation by several opposing councilmembers on such key issues as school taxes, revenues to the city, state control and over the Master Plan," he said.

Bergeron agreed. "I don't believe that we have given this company ample time, and therefore I will vote against Mr. Raspberry's motion."

Council had had two meetings with Wineman's representatives.

However, Lewkowicz said that that the city had adopted a Master Plan and the council had a duty to stand by it.

"Some years ago the City of Romulus wisely developed a Master Plan," Lewkowicz continued, "and I feel we are obligated to follow this plan. We're going to develop this city into something that isn't just going to be a pile of junk or cut up into spot zoning. That's what will happen if we give Wineman this rezoning."

"I don't believe that the trailer park is in the best interest of the city," Lambert said, "and eventually, if approved, it would be a tax burden to the city and the schools. But, let me add that I'm 100 percent for development in this city; however, I can't see at this time supporting this kind of development."

'... to do my duty'

The over-100 year-old Boy Scouts of America are celebrating Boy Scouts Week during Feb. 6 through Feb. 12. In conjunction with that honor, Mayor William Oakley issued a proclamation urging all residents and citizens to support the worthy organization. On hand to receive the mayoral proclamation are Raymond Hood, Troop 735 Scoutmaster and Jason Nesler, Patrol Leader of the Troop.

WC3 to host representatives from 2 of state's colleges

Wayne County Community College's Western Center will host 20 representatives from colleges in lower Michigan at a "College Fair," from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. today, (Feb. 9).

The purpose of the fair is to inform our students about the accessibility of the many four-year colleges and universities in our area," said Janet Maxey, Student Services Director of the Western Center.

Participants will talk to representatives about admissions, financial aid and educational programs. The college representatives will also be attending an articulation meeting with the WC3 Western Staff to discuss new possibilities of "two plus two" agreements between WC3 and four-year colleges. "Two plus two" agreements allow for community college students to transfer from WC3 as a junior status, or with 60 credit hours towards their degree. Presently, WC3 has articulation agreements with Michigan, Eastern Michigan, Ferris State and Wayne State Universities.

Representatives from the following colleges and universities were invited to attend: Alma College, Cleary College, Detroit College of Business, Eastern Michigan University, Ferris State College, St. Mary's College, Madonna College, Marygrove College, Mercy College, Michigan State University, Nazareth College, Northwood Institute, Olivet College, Saginaw Valley State College, Sienna Heights College, University of Detroit, University of Michigan, Wayne State University.

ty and Western Michigan University. A representative from the U.S. Army Recruiting Station will also be attending.

The public is welcome to stop by the "College Fair" WC3's Western Center, 9555

Haggerty Road, Belleville. For more information, you may call Dennis Frendo, Counselor, at 699-0200, ext. 1024.

Edison says, 'get ID'

Avoid becoming a con-artist's victim. Recently, several area residents have been victimized by persons posing as utility employees.

For your safety, Detroit Edison has made it possible to identify all company employees when they visit your home.

Follow these three simple guidelines before admitting anyone into your home and know the people who serve you.

1. Ask for identification. Before admitting any Detroit Edison employee into your home, check for proper identification. All Detroit Edison employees carry identification cards or badges, displaying their photos, and clearly labeled as Detroit Edison identification.

2. Call Detroit Edison, if you are not sure about an employee's identification. The toll-free phone number is located on your bill. The best rule to follow is never let anyone inside your home until you are sure who the person is.

3. Detroit Edison employees NEVER deliver cash refunds or "rebates" to a customer's home. All account transactions of this nature are handled through the U.S. mail or at a Detroit Edison customer office.

Florentine treat: flounder filets stuffed with chopped spinach and green onion and baked with wine and butter. Season stuffing to taste and toss in bread cubes to absorb juices.

Poach orange rind in grenadine before using it to garnish a dish. Fabulous color!

Chopped nuts won't stick together in the batter if you toss them in a little flour (from the recipe) before you add to the bowl.

Even people who have difficulty digesting lactose may enjoy these low-lactose cheeses: Brick, uncreamed cottage cheese, Brie, Camembert, Cheddar, Edam, Gouda, Limburger, Provolone, and Stilton.

How to choose the best: grapefruit should be firm and springy, not soft or floppy. Look for heavy fruit with thin skins. Tangerines should be puffy — but not soft. Look for heavy fruit and deep orange color.

MARY LOU CAREY

1st woman to serve as director for 8 years

Huron Twp. clerk named to MTA post

At the 30th Annual Michigan Townships Association Educational Convention held in Dearborn, Mary Lou Carey, Huron Township Clerk, was selected as Director of the Executive Committee of the MTA by incoming President Wallace Bierlein.

Mrs. Carey will be the first woman member of the MTA Executive Board in over eight years, and will continue to serve through the offices of the association in coming years.

Mrs. Carey has been a member of the Board of Directors of the MTA since 1979, and served a two year term from 1975-77.

The Board of Directors are elected by district caucus every other year during the convention by the township officers in attendance at the convention.

She represents the MTA 18th district which encompasses Wayne, Monroe, Washtenaw and Livingston counties.

Michigan Townships Association was founded in 1953 to promote township government throughout the state and currently has a staff of about 15 people in Lansing. On the staff, there are several lobbyists whose jobs are to sponsor and promote changes in legislation which are harmful to township government and the people who reside in townships in Michigan.

The MTA provides many other services to member townships. Membership in the Michigan Townships Association automatically gives township officials access to the National Association of Towns and Townships in Washington, D.C. This association provides many of the same types of services to township officials in some 20 states of our nation. They also sponsor a national convention in Washington each September. The MTA Board of Directors sends several delegates to the national meeting each year where they are able to meet with their local Representatives and their staffs.

Mrs. Carey has taken an active part in both of these organizations and has served on many, many different committees for each of them. She especially has enjoyed her work with the Legislative Committees and has given a great deal of time to working with the Election Committees of both the House and Senate at the state level and has worked with the Federal Elections Commission in the past.

In addition to her duties with the MTA, Mrs. Carey is also the President of the Wayne County Municipal and Township Clerks Association and has previously worked both for and with the Michigan Democratic Party and many local Democratic Clubs in the 15th Congressional District.

She has been the clerk of Huron Township for 10 of the past 12 years and is a Certified Municipal Clerk earning this accomplishment through many years of study with the International Institute of Municipal Clerks and the continuing education programs at Michigan State University.

The winner's circle

The winner's circle is where Rusty Wallace would like to be on Feb. 20, and also where sponsors of his 1983 Buick Regal hope he will be at the conclusion of the Daytona 500 stock car race. Wallace has teamed up with the Ramada Inns nationwide and the National Easter Seal Society in a fund raiser for the organization. Through $5 sponsorships and per lap pledges, Wallace and Ramada hope to generate in excess of $100,000 for Easter Seals. The Ramada Inn at Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Romulus is actively involved in the benefit, with the Easter Seal Society of Wayne County, headquartered in Inkster, to benefit from the local effort. Helping to promote the fund raiser this week were Franz Schoeberlein, director of sales at Ramada (from left), 13-year-old Wayne County Easter Seals poster child Steve Singleton of Detroit, Sheila Dunn, deputy executive director of the Wayne County unit, Wallace and Sally Levay, special events coordinator for the Wayne County unit.

Rarin' to go Speedster races to aid Easter Seals

When the Daytona 500 stock car race starts on Feb. 20, rookie driver Rusty Wallace will be hoping to finish with the leaders of the pack.

He won't be the only one hoping his 1983 Buick Regal makes it through every one of the grueling 500 miles. The National Easter Seals Society and its affiliates throughout the United States will be, too.

Wallace, whose car will be sponsored in the race by the Ramada corporation, was the U.S. Auto Club's Rookie of the Year in 1979. Last year he had the 15th fastest qualifying time for Daytona, but was forced out of the race in the 52nd lap because of engine problems.

The goal of the world's largest hotel chains is to raise $100,000 nationally for Easter Seals, with most of the money collected in the tri-county area to be used for Easter Seal projects here.

"By soliciting sponsorships for driver Rusty Wallace's car, we hope to raise $100,000 nationally for Easter Seals," said Franz Schoeberlein, director of sales at the Ramada Inn in Romulus. "And the best thing about it is that nearly all of the money we collect here in Detroit will be used for Easter Seal projects locally."

Participating Ramada Inns will be seeking initial $5 contributions, however, sponsors can pledge any amount of money beyond that, either as a flat sum or on a per lap basis.

At a press conference Tuesday, which attracted the 1983 Wayne County Easter Seals poster child, Steve Singleton of Detroit, Wallace noted that engine tests done on his car in early January at Daytona reached speeds in excess of 193 miles per hour.

"Problems with the car are a part of the game, but when you have a superior car and a superior crew as I do this year, you expect only the best," he said. "It's especially important for me to do this well, not only for the person satisfaction, but for the benefit of Easter Seals."

Wallace's best finish on the Grand National circuit was a close second in the 1980 Atlanta 500, his first Grand National start. He had four wins in five starts on the All-Pro stock circuit in 1982 and began all five races from the pole position. The only race of the five he didn't win was the one he didn't finish.

At 26 he is one of the youngest drivers in the major racing circuits of the country.

According to Sheila Dunn, deputy executive director of the Easter Seal Society of Wayne County, the money raised locally through Wallace's participation in the Daytona 500 will be presented to the society during its annual telethon March 26-27. The telethon, with Mort Crim and Gary Danielson as the local hosts, will be aired on WDIV-TV, Channel 4.

"It's an excellent opportunity for race fans and people who don't know anything about the sport to take part in something that is beneficial to thousands of people, who are less fortunate," Schoeberlein said of the fund raiser.

Locally, sponsors can sign up at Detroit Metropolitan Airport Ramada Inn, located at 8270 Wickham Road, Romulus.

Dog days Has your dog been innoculated?

The annual Romulus dog innoculation and license clinic will be held on two succeeding Saturdays in February at a new location, announced Beverly McAnally, City Treasurer.

"We will be moving from the old Fire Hall on Goddard to the old D.P.W. Building located at Shook and Bibbins, next to the Recreation Building.

"We have been concerned about lack of parking facilities at the previous location and feel we will have more room for the operation at the new site," Mrs. McAnally added.

The dog clinic will be held between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. on Feb. 19 and 26.

Vaccinations to prevent rabies, distemper, hepatitis, leptospirosis, parainfluenza and parvo will be available. Cat innoculations will also be available.

License fees for dogs are as follows; unneutered males and females, $5 one year, $9 two years and $13 for three years.

Neutered animals are $1.50, $2.50 and $4 for one, two and three year licenses. Senior Citizens can purchase licenses at half price.

All rabies vaccinations available at the clinic will be for three years.

Schick is awarded A.F. promotion

Thomas C. Schick, son of Frank G. and Judith A. Schick of 3417 Michelle Drive, Romulus, has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of airman first class.

Schick is a fire protection specialist at K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base, Mich., with the 410th Civil Engineering Squadron.

He is a 1979 graduate of Romulus High School.

Pvt. Ronald G. Maddox, son of James C. Maddox of 15066 Pondway, Romulus has completed basic training at Fort McClellan, Ala.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Sgt. Terry L. Scott, son of Germaine M. and Richard E. Scott of 17215 120th Ave., Nunica, Mich., has arrived for duty at Incirlik Air Base, Turkey.

Scott, a ground equipment mechanic with the 39th Tactical Group, was previously assigned at Langley Air Force Base, Va.

His wife, Kay, is the daughter of Tom and Ethel Jordan of 21 Carriage Lane, Belleville.

The sergeant is a 1970 graduate of Spring Lake High School, Mich.

Timothy A. Kudla, 20, son of Sandra Dubois, 6005 Dexter, Romulus, enlisted in the U.S. Air Force today, departing here for six weeks basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

Following completion of basic, says his recruiter, Technical Sergeant Ed Lehmann, 3645 Metro Place Mall, Wayne, Kudla has been guaranteed training as a Material Facilities Specialist. His training will be at Lowry Air Force Base, Colorado.

Kudla will receive accelerated promotion to Airman First Class for receiving the Billy Mitchell and Amelia Earhart Awards from the Civil Air Patrol.

Upon graduation from technical training school, Kudla will be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Easter Seal's Basketball Shootout set for kids

Youngsters from 16 area schools in the Wayne- Westland, Plymouth- Canton, Inkster, Romulus and Cherry Hill school districts will be raising money for the Easter Seal Society of Wayne County in February and March by participating in the 1983 Basketball Shoot-Out for Easter Seals.

The fundraising effort, sponsored by Tubby's Sub Shops, brought in $21,720 in 1982, and this year's goal is $35,000.

Participating are boys and girls aged 18 and under. Each shooter is eligible for individual prizes, while trophies will be awarded to the schools raising the most money.

Among the participating schools are Wayne Memorial High, Adams Junior High and Tinkham Elementary in Wayne- Westland; West, Central and Lowell middle schools, plus Starkweather and Isbister elementary, Plymouth- Canton and Hicks Elementary in Romulus.

Also participating are Carver, Brake, Woodson, Fellrath and Meek schools in Inkster, and Romulus Junior High and Wick Elementary in Romulus.

WCCC hosts 'TransAfrica' talk

In commemoration of Black History Month, the Wayne County Community College Office of Student Activities on Thursday will present a lecture by Randall Robinson, Executive Director of TransAfrica.

Robinson will speak on "U.S. Policy Toward Africa and the Caribbean" at the Greenfield Auditorium at 8551 Greenfield at Joy Road, in Detroit, at 7:30 p.m.

TransAfrica is the only full-time Black

American lobby for Africa and the Caribbean whose purpose is to organize popular opinion in the United States to advocate policies and practices that will help achieve a more progressive foreign policy toward those nations.

Robinson's lecture will be open to the community at no charge. For further information regarding this event, contact the Wayne County Community College Office of Student Activities at 496-2565.

Junior Achievement fund drive begins

The 1983 Junior Achievement Fund Drive is underway and will run through April 26.

Lucius Theus, Corporate Director, Civic Affairs, The Bendix Corporation and Unit III Chairman for the 1983 Fund Drive has announced that Don Prior, Director of Purchases, Kelsey-Hayes will serve as the Romulus Chairman for this year's fund drive.

Funds raised will be used to support the Romulus location at which 80 young people have formed two JA Companies.

Project Business is conducting classes at Romulus Junior High and St. Aloysius Schools.

In addition, the Business Basics, Applied Management and Applied Economics programs are being operated throughout the seven county area of South-eastern Michigan.

Don't waste Belleville, Van Buren tax monies

Van Buren and Belleville residents will soon be asked to vote for charter commissioners who will then have the responsibility of drawing up an acceptable city charter which, if approved, will pave the way for the consolidation of the two communities.

Because the population of the community will determine the number of commissioners each municipality will have on the charter commission and because Van Buren has an overwhelming edge in population — (it will dominate the commission by a 7-2 ratio) it would be reasonable to state that the 19,000 plus in 36-square mile Van Buren will dominate the dialogue.

It is also reasonable to say that Belleville's less-than-three-square-miles of land could easily be engulfed by the larger area.

Also, because cities have a right to levy up to 16 mills for various services and townships usually levy much less, and because history has shown that when government gets bigger, taxes skyrocket, the two communities can look forward to higher taxes.

Many won't agree with our conclusions, but will you take out your county, state, and federal tax bills and tell us when these so-called "temporary taxes" are going to expire?

After all, didn't Woodrow Wilson say he needed the tax — levied only, at first, against corporations — to fight Kaiser Wilhelm?

But let's not return to ancient history.

Many residents of Van Buren and of Belleville have spoken out against consolidation. Their message has reached the township board and the Belleville City Council, whose members are ready to begin court action against consolidation.

We hope they succeed. For, at this time in the history of the two communities, we can't see anything that would benefit the residents more.

Senior citizen speaks out on Social Security system

This is a message to our senior citizens and to our Congress.

By now we are certainly old enough to have learned that when the Social Security System dries up, as it will by the end of 1984, we won't need to worry about a cut in our checks. Your blind refusal to accept reality will eliminate that problem. You won't have to worry about a reduced check; there will be no check to worry about.

How can you live, 65 years or more, without learning that because you will it to be so, there will always be a check, fattened every year, no matter what? This goes against the philosophy that our generation learned when we were young. That philosophy—never move unthinkingly into debt, having no idea how we would meet those debts. Yet this is what many of us are insisting upon today.

So let's do it your way, let the whole Social Security System collapse just so long as we can gobble it up in the next couple of months. Let the system go down the drain! Your children, already overburdened with taxes as a result of the blind, unreasonable demands we have made and are still making in the face of the Systems bankruptcy—your children and mine will not have an easy time, since they will have no Social Security to look forward to.

The System has been administered recklessly for many years as though there were no tomorrow. That giveaways accompanying old age support make a farce of the System. To keep it alive, we must be willing to forego some of the excesses to which we have become accustomed and slowly and sensibly rebuild a healthy System. We cannot, however, do this by demanding increases or rejecting some of the deterrents to further increases.

If the System is to survive, it MUST stop playing Santa Claus all year round as it does now. Give our children their rightful opportunity for a sound pension.

Social Security was intended to SUPPLEMENT the income of the elderly and the disabled. It was not intended at any time to support us. Each administration has chosen to close its eyes to the runaway programs that have sprung up to make a farce of an 'old age' plan.

As for our government—please do not think that you are deserving of any medals either. Recent editorials disclose (and not for the first time) that the flood gates which stand wide open to admit hundreds of thousands of immigrants yearly are taking away a means of earning a livelihood from Americans who have lived under our flag for years. These new arrivals are receiving all forms of welfare and many are receiving forms of Social Security and have never contributed a penny for this privilege.

For years our government has been passing the buck, afraid to take the responsibility of fixing the monster they themselves have created.

Oh yes, they have created corrupt collections of phony committees, bearing unexplainable titles and vague purposes for this existence, wasting time and more money, yet never accomplishing any permanent or workable solution to this problem known as the Social Security System.

We now have a proposed program to see the System through the future. It is time for us to back our President and members of Congress, regardless of party affiliations, who are trying to help make order out of the chaos that has existed for years.

'Patent' for success

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

Dave Maxon, a patent attorney with law degrees from Wayne State University who has studied engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, wants to remind us that this is "National Inventor's Week" and that Gov. James Blanchard should have a proclamation ready for that specific purpose.

Maxon also wishes to remind readers that "it's very important to recognize the inventive talents of Michigan and the rest of the country because it is, after all, the inventors who develop the machines and technology which will eventually pull us out of this economic slump."

What significance does inventorship and patents have for Michiganders in this horrendous economy?

Maxon's response was: "There is opportunity here that you will find nowhere in the world. By recognizing inventors and giving them every conceivable opportunity to exploit and develop their inventiveness, the likelihood is that the end product will result in jobs. And that's what we need—jobs."

But isn't it true that patents really favor big corporations and the little guy gets shut out?

"No, the opposite is true," Maxon replied. "Big corporations are interested in maximizing profits in the area of least risk and where they are big they do dominate industry. They don't have a built-in incentive to improve and change their product."

"And that's why the 'little guy' has the edge. He has the incentive to come up with the new ideas because of the profit incentive. And patent laws are designed to protect the little guy so that he can at least have what we call 'exclusivity'—patent protection—until the inventor gets himself established."

"And jobs? Every big step had to start with a small one."

If the inventors with the patents are the remedy to our economic ills, why aren't they out there doing their thing, sir?

"They are, and, believe me, that's why this country is so great. Our imagination and inventiveness are the greatest assets we have. We have won wars because of it and we have cured many of civilization's past ills because of it."

Well, isn't it true that most patents get shot down in the courts? And that the Patent Office grinds out masses of patents that end up being worthless?

"It's true," Maxon admitted, "however, the Patent Office conducts a very thorough examination of one of the most thorough in the world, so if a patent is challenged in court, there is at least a chance that it will be upheld."

Clearing up church caption

EDITOR — I would like to clarify the caption which accompanied a front page story which appeared in the Associated Newspapers' Belleville Enterprise recently.

While Father Skoney has been out of town I don't want anyone to think we have restructured St. Anthony's Catholic church. St. Anthony's church, 409 W. Columbia, is under the direction of the pastor, Father Raymond Skoney. His associate is Father David Lis.

The parish council is the voice of the people and the president of the parish council is Carl Johnson.

The administration commission studies the financial needs of the parish and makes recommendations to the parish council. The president of the administration commission is Ray Memering and Agnes Cook is secretary of the administration commission.

I would like to thank you and your staff for the coverage you give this community. In giving information sometimes we the people do not make clear what our positions are.

Which 'hat' does mayor want?

EDITOR — I would like to ask the Westland City Attorney a question - which vacant position should the City Council be concerned about filling - a council seat or the Mayor's chair?

On January 4, 1983, Mayor Charles Pickering finally won his five-year battle to become Director of the Westland Parks and Recreation Department when he laid-off Ralph Tack, an experienced, qualified, hard-working, and respected Director, and appointed himself to that position.

On January 19, Mayor Pickering vetoed the appointment to the Westland City Council of Westland resident Kent Herbert because, and I quote, he was "treasurer of the Working Together for Westland group."

Back in 1978 when Mayor Pickering started his fight to be Director of Parks and Recreation, local politicians organized his campaign, which included rallies and letters to local papers. The managers of that campaign were Bob Williamson (the only person recommended by the Mayor for the Council vacancy) and Chuck Menzies (his wife is now Chuck Pickering's personal secretary).

By the way, the Mayor would like to give a raise to Mrs. Menzies at a time when other Westland employees are threatened with lay-offs. In 1978, Pickering's campaign for Director of Parks and Recreation was based on his qualifications and his statement that he would get his college degree by "the end of the summer (1978)." Chuck, did you follow up on that promise? I really don't think so.

Then, in 1981, Pickering decided to put his name on the ballot in his run for the Mayor's job. His campaign manager that year was Joe Hawrylak, who has become the Mayor's administrative assistant. Then, there is Hank Lundquist. First he was Pickering's opponent in the 1981 primary election, then his political strategist (hatchetman) in the general election. What did he do? The Mayor appointed Hank as Director of Public Service - it was a complete political pay-off because Lundquist had no previous experience cleaning up anything.

Mr. City Attorney, can the Director of Parks and Recreation really do all of this?

Pickering was also critical of Mr. Herbert and again I quote, "because of friction between (Kent) Herbert and other city employees." Back in 1978, Pickering had his own problems with city employees when he refused to pay his union dues because of his "close association as deputy director with management." I guess Pickering has forgotten it's not a sin to disagree with some city employees.

Pickering's last reason for vetoing Kent Herbert's appointment was because Mrs. Herbert is a city secretary. Mr. City Attorney, the Mayor's memory has slipped again. We all know Pickering supported Dewey Combs (president of a city union) for school board last spring even though Mrs. Combs is a secretary for the school district. There certainly wasn't a question of nepotism then.

Mr. City Attorney, I feel you should rule that in fact Mr. Pickering is the Director of Parks and Recreation and that the Mayor's chair is vacant.

Maybe then Westland would get moving again.

Alma mater needs education

EDITOR — This letter is in regard to the Bedford Temperance wrestling meet and a visit recently to my old alma mater - Wayne Memorial.

Our family had to move from this area due to my husband's employment in 1976. Up until then we had hoped that our son and daughter would attend W.M.H.S. and be as proud of their school as we had been.

My daughter is now a sophomore in the Bedford school system and travels with the wrestling team as a "Grapplette."

When she arrived home from the event I inquired as to how she liked my old school. She stated the rest room which adjoins the gymnasium was so "filthy" she could not bring herself to use the facility.

My question is - Whose fault is this? Can it be the fault of the students or the fact that it had been improperly cleaned for some time?

I am sure that the wages received by the custodians are adequate plus the feeling of being proud of their work would prompt them to do a better job than apparently is being done. Perhaps a special effort could be made to clean these facilities when it is known that another school will be visiting.

My mother and father still live in Wayne and their school taxes are raised every year.

I hope that this letter does something to alleviate this and maybe students and custodians together could try to keep a good image for their school and no student from another school would come home and use the word "filthy" to describe W.M.H.S.

MRS. CAROL GEORGETTE SMITH
Bedford

Low scores: Whose fault?

EDITOR — Due to the fact that most Romulus teachers do not have the "time" to spend with the students, it is amazing that other schools in the tri-county area with the same amount of educational classes available as Romulus have higher standings for the Michigan Assessment Test.

I would like to know why? Is it because the teachers in Romulus do not care enough?

Or is it because the students who attend the schools do not care?

I attend Romulus Public Schools and I believe it is the teachers' fault that we do not score high. The teachers at Romulus do not spend enough time with a student.

Instead, they sit at their desks and do nothing. And if they do explain something and you have a question, they either tell you to put your hand down or just ignore you.

I am not saying that all the teachers at Romulus don't do their job, but at least 40 percent of them don't.

Add taxes, cut pay

EDITOR — If a tax increase is really necessary, let's all face up to Michigan's financial crisis and accompany that tax increase, which may be either temporary or permanent, by a corresponding identical percentage cut in every Michigan elected and appointed officials' paycheck.

This cut would be for the same period of time as the tax increase is in effect.

These present and future officials would include them all, from the governor on down through the local governing bodies, as these people are or would be responsible for the financial condition of this state's economy and for any continuing policy that would retain a tax increase.

Further, any governing body whose officials refused to abide by this pay cut would not receive any state money.

I am no martyr. If these officials are not willing to bite the bullet, then let's start a recall petition.

In the wake of Westworld

EDITOR — It has been one year since the Westworld proposal was introduced in the City of Westland. During the past year, a heated battle took place between the owners of Westworld, the city of Westland and local residents.

What was the result? Westworld's site plan was denied but the inadequacies of the system that allowed such a project to get as far as it did remain.

During the past year, many of our laws and ordinances were proven to be either unenforceable or were not enforced due to a lack of interest or ignorance of the ordinance by city officials. If the citizens had not "stormed" City Hall, Westworld would be a mini-amusement park now.

Has the city taken any steps to correct our laws and ordinances?

No, instead we have a City Council and administration who are constantly battling each other and nothing is getting done.

Westworld has stated that they have given up plans for their mini-amusement park and will build only a miniature golf course which the city has no objection to. But what is to prevent Westworld from adding to this miniature golf course? Under our present laws and ordinances, nothing.

I, for one, do not want to spend another year battling Westworld or any similar project, and City Hall.

It is time for our city officials to reacquaint themselves with their oath of office and run this city properly and prevent this situation from happening again.

ANP staffer receives 'thanks'

EDITOR — I would like to thank the Associated Newspapers' News Editor, Sue McDonald, for participating as a judge in the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council's Kite Contest.

Involvement by women in our community is especially important to Girl Scouting. Your effort helped to make the event a success and a more enjoyable time for those who attended.

Council's choice was excellent

EDITOR — The City of Wayne Council is to be commended for its selection of Tom Kelley to the council vacancy. This man has given more of himself to the Wayne-Westland Community than most people I know. He is an articulate spokesman for the community.

Mr. Kelley's involvement within the school, where he is a teacher at Westland John Glenn, as well as his many activities can only be an asset to the community as a whole.

Council's choice is an outstanding one, and speaks well of the members.

This country needs 'people'

EDITOR — I have been reading, watching on TV, and listening on the radio about the causes and effect on our present economy. I believe a great oversight has been made as to the failure of the economy, every conceivable reason is given. You have all the so-called experts, giving their insight to the predictable outcome and cause.

I am concerned about what is happening, just like most people are. "People" are (we are) the backbone of this country. The factories, businesses, stock markets, name it, could not flourish, yes, even the government, without people. The success of this country has always been the people.

Think back when the cities, villages, suburbs, farms, etc., were teeming with people, how the buildings, homes, and farms were neatly kept. There was very little need of police protection, there was scarce amount of vacant buildings, homes, and unattended fields to mar the city. Under conditions mentioned the people were productive, supportive, and were consumers. Now the people are handcuffed. They cannot produce, support, or become consumers. It boils down to somewhere along the line the people were shoved aside and considered next to nothing. A great change has taken place in the importance of the people, and the country is suffering because of it.

MARY'S VALENTINE

A valentine is not a card
Or heart shaped candy box.
Tis love that once has entered in
The heart forever locks.

As long as there's a rose in bloom,
Red as crimson cherry,
My love will always be the one
That's known as Little Mary.

reflections

When daughter becomes author

The door flew open and my daughter came tumbling in.

"Mother, read this, and give me your honest opinion. I want your HONEST opinion." She thrust a sheet of paper in my hand and I recognized her writing in two short paragraphs.

I read about candlelight and smelling the flowers and thoughtfulness and sheer nighties. What I was reading was about romance spelled with a big, big R.

"I wrote this, mother, because there is a contest and to win that contest one has to write how one keeps romance in his or her marriage. How does this sound? Honestly!"

"It sounds like you are sixteen again," I told her.

"Oh mother - you know what I mean. Is it well written? Could it get to the judge? I could win a fabulous vacation just for two - you WILL take care of the kids, won't you? - and all kinds of other things."

I looked at her eager, shining face and even though I was tempted to tell her to forget it, not because of the writing but because two weeks with a bunch of kids has to be what romance was all about once upon a time a long time ago, I didn't. I told her it was well written and I gave her a big fat kiss to show her how I love her and then I wished her well on her venture of finding a fabulous vacation that wouldn't cost her anything...then.

After she left I sat down and began to think about romance, and marriage, and I wondered about the contest, because anyone who has been married forever knows that romance in marriage is a figment of someone's imagination. And not your own.

I remembered how I had once read a magazine on how to put romance back into a marriage.

The article said to pour your husbands bath, and float red hibiscus flowers on top of the water, and then lead your loved one in and surprise him.

I had a terrible time trying to find hibiscus flowers in Michigan, so I settled for red geraniums. I poured the water and floated the flowers, and then I tried to lead my loved one into the bathroom. But he balked.

"I don't have to go," he said.

"I just want you to see something," I whispered as seductively as I could in his ear, but it was real hard because he was watching a football game and he kept slapping at me because he thought I was a fly or some other insect...I think.

When half-time came, he allowed me to lead him upstairs and into the bathroom, but he got real unhappy when I began unbuttoning his shirt. That should have told me that magazine article was probably written by someone who has never had a husband who loves football.

When he finally consented to take a bath he lifted one foot into the water, and that is when he spotted the red geraniums sunk under the bubble-bath.

"What the hell," he shouted. "Who's watering their plants in my bathtub?"

I thought perhaps I should call my daughter and tell her about that episode with her father, but then, remembering how kids can't believe there ever was any romance between their mother and father, I decided to let her go ahead and send the two paragraphs into the contest, and help her by praying that the judges should be young unmarried's who were unrealistic in their fantasies.

MONA GRIGG

They can be used to purchase whatever kinds of foods a particular family likes or needs. (Here's where people on specific diets would benefit.)

And, as Reverend Chesmond Bade of the Transfiguration Lutheran Church in Taylor says, "Money is so much easier to warehouse than food."

Reverend Bade's church has an account set up at a local bank, and, as often as they can, they draw money out and purchase grocery store gift certificates. They use the same qualifying guidelines as for the food baskets.

"It is the easiest and, by far, the most humane of all avenues," Reverend Bade says, "The only problem (and there are always problems) is coming up with ways to bring in the money."

Still, it's an "avenue" worth exploring, don't you think?

mona grigg

Keep that food coming, but . . .

From what the people in the Out-Wayne County emergency foods programs have found, the most efficient way of handling food donations is still to bring them to one central location and then package and distribute from there.

It is no doubt the most efficient way, as long as the collecting and the warehousing, the packaging and the manpower isn't a problem.

All of those things are, however, a problem. As we mentioned here last week, locating 60 free refrigerated trucks and 500 free warehouse pallets and hundreds of volunteer workers are just numbers one, two, and three on the "problems" list.

But that is not to say that the way to take care of the problems is to forget about the food.

No, no, and once again, no. Keep that food coming. The food pantries (those that have been established for a while, at any rate) are giving out food at a steady rate and are constantly looking for more.

But in doing their jobs, they're becoming increasingly aware of new and different problems.

One major problem is that, in order for people to receive food presently, they have to come to where the food is. It's a disturbing fact that more than just some of those in need are housebound for one reason or another. They may be invalids - or they may have no transportation and the distribution center is too far to walk to. (In the paper the other day they told of one woman who had walked several miles to pick up food, only to find that the package she received was far too heavy for her to carry. She was on her way out the door, empty-handed, when one of the workers noticed and offered to drive her home.)

Delivery of food boxes to some homes is going to have to be considered - or possibly "food pools", where one person in an apartment house or neighborhood picks up boxes for his or her neighbors.

Another aspect the food programs people are becoming concerned about is that, in trying to service the people in need, they may, in effect, be "killing them with cholesterol kindness".

There are those, especially among the elderly, whose hearts simply cannot tolerate the cholesterol-rich foods prescribed in nutrition guides designed for the general public. The foods people are looking into putting together lists of substitute foods for unusual dietary needs.

Something else the foods people are looking into, with much interest, is the substitution of money for food. Some of them have already set into motion programs where grocery store gift certificates in specific dollar amounts (marked "for food only") are given in place of food baskets.

The gift certificates have several advantages:

They are as stigma-free as hard cash. (When you're standing in a grocery line, no one has to know that your Aunt Tillie didn't remember you on your birthday with a gift certificate.)

Think ahead to Valentine's Day

Make your gift a special meal

If you have trouble finding the right Valentine's Day cards and gifts to express your feelings, let your loved ones know just how special you think they are with a Valentine's meal made just for them.

Since nothing satisfies like a thick, juicy beef steak, you're sure to win hearts when you headline the menu with Broiled Sirloin Steak with Wine Sauce. While the meal-sized steak is delicious simply broiled, it becomes holiday-special served with a flavorful Madeira wine sauce accented with mushrooms and green onions. Fortunately for the busy cook, broiling a tender sirloin steak couldn't be easier. For best results, you will want to place the steak the proper distance from the heat for its thickness and time it carefully, broiling just to rare or medium.

Since steak and salad naturally go together, include Salade Jardin on your Valentine's menu. Crisp, delicately-flavored iceberg lettuce is teamed with fresh mushrooms, cherry tomatoes, green onions and capers, then tossed with a homemade lemon-oil dressing. When selecting iceberg lettuce, look for a head that is "springy-firm," giving slightly to gentle pressure. Don't be concerned if the core end is brown; this is simply nature's attempt to seal the cut made during harvesting or trimming.

For dessert, say "Be mine!" deliciously with Cherry Amaretto Cream. This in-the-pink creation is studded with tart, flavorful cherries and topped with an elegant cherry sauce laced with amaretto liqueur. While this heart-shaped dessert will bring a chorus of "oohs and aahs," it's easily made with convenient cherry pie filling.

With this collection of festive foods, you'll not only be giving your special Valentine a memorable meal, you'll also be providing them with many valuable nutrients they need to be healthy and happy. Beef sirloin steak is an excellent source of high-quality protein and many vitamins and minerals including thiamine, riboflavin, niacin, iron and zinc. Iceberg lettuce in the salad is high in natural fiber but low in sodium and calories and contributes Vitamins A and C as well as potassium, thiamine and other minerals to the diet. Even the dessert plays an important role in a well-balanced diet, thanks to the cherries that are high in Vitamin A.

Broiled Sirloin Steak with Madeira Wine Sauce
1 or 2 beef sirloin steaks, cut 1 to 1-1/2 inches thick
Salt Pepper Wine Sauce*

Place steak on rack in broiler pan so surface of 1-inch steak is 2 to 3 inches from heat and 1-1/2-inch steak is 3 to 4 inches from heat. When one side is browned, season, turn and finish cooking on the second side. Season. Steaks cut 1 inch thick require 18 to 20 minutes for rare and 20 to 25 minutes for medium. Steaks cut 1-1/2 inches thick require 25 to 30 minutes for rare and 30 to 35 minutes for medium. Serve with Wine Sauce, if desired.

Wine Sauce
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup sliced mushrooms
1/2 cup sliced green onions
1/4 cup water
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup Madeira wine
Cook mushrooms and onions in butter, stirring occasionally, about 4 minutes. Combine water, cornstarch and salt; add to vegetables, stirring constantly. Stir in wine and cook slowly 4 minutes, stirring occasionally. Yield: 1 cup sauce.

Salade Jardin
1 head iceberg lettuce
Lemon-Oil Dressing*
6 to 7 cherry tomatoes, quartered
4 to 5 mushrooms, thinly sliced
1 green onion, thinly sliced
1 tablespoon capers, drained
3/4 cup garlic croutons
3 tablespoons freshly grated Romano or Parmesan cheese
Core, rinse and thoroughly drain lettuce. Refrigerate in plastic bag or container to crisp. Prepare Lemon-Oil Dressing. Tear lettuce into bite-sized pieces to measure 6 cups. (Refrigerate remaining lettuce in plastic bag for future use.) Place torn lettuce, tomatoes, mushrooms, green onion and capers in salad bowl. Toss gently with dressing. Add croutons and cheese and toss again. Serve immediately. 4 to 6 servings.

Lemon-Oil Dressing
Combine 1-1/2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 minced small garlic clove and 1/4 teaspoon each salt and sugar. With a fork or whisk gradually beat in 1/4 cup olive oil. Yield: 1/2 cup dressing.

Cherry Amaretto Cream
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
1/4 cup sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 can (21 ounces) tart cherry pie fill
2 cups (1 pint) whipping or heavy cream, whipped
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
2 tablespoons amaretto liqueur

Sprinkle unflavored gelatin over cold water in saucepan; let stand 3 to 4 minutes. Stir over low heat until gelatin is completely dissolved, about 5 minutes. Add sugar, lemon juice and salt, stirring to combine. Stir in 1-1/2 cups cherry pie fill. Chill until mixture begins to thicken slightly. Fold in whipped cream. Pour into 2-quart mold; chill until firm. Meanwhile combine amaretto with remaining cherry pie fill and cook slowly 2 to 3 minutes. Cool slightly. To serve, unmold dessert onto serving plate; top with cherry sauce. Yield: one 2-quart mold.

DAR Good Citizens feted at tea

Approximately 50 family members and friends attended the DAR Good Citizens ceremony and tea on Sunday, Jan. 30, at the Ladies' Literary Club in Ypsilanti.

This event was sponsored by the Ypsilanti Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution and honored the following five outstanding seniors chosen from local high schools. Tami Vicchy of Belleville High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Vicchy; Cheryl Ziemann of Calvary Christian Academy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Ziemann; Felicia Chestnut of Lincoln High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Chestnut; Donna A. Porter of Ypsilanti High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Porter; and Brent Terry of Willow Run High School, son of Mrs. Margaret Terry.

From the Ypsilanti Chapter DAR the students received a DAR Good Citizens pin, a Certificate of Recognition, an American flag, flag code and a small green plant.

Mrs. Daniel McGuire, Regent, conducted a short business meeting. The Good Citizens ceremony was chaired by Mrs. Hugh Kellas with Mrs. Frank Hale chairing the tea.

After the Good Citizens ceremony, Lt. Col. Richard M. Smith, Professor of Military Science at Eastern Michigan University, spoke on "National Defense."

Monday is Valentine's Day — remember someone you love

potpourri

By Lee Smith
Suburban Living Editor

When BG was assigned a week of management training school in the suburbs of Chicago, I'd not planned to accompany him since I am a working gal (of sorts) and am saving those "days off" for vacation time.

But when the daughters-two (who've been transplanted north of the Windy City) learned of my decision, there were indignant outcries of "What? Why not? You're kidding!" and similar exclamations which caused me to think it over. An outline of their plans for getting me home as well as for "what we could do" (women-type outings) if I came in sounded pretty inviting and I soon retracted my earlier nay vote. I am egotistical enough to admit that the feeling of being wanted made it even more appealing.

So — as I began penning this latest "potpourri" I was looking back on five days spent with members of my family, sporadic ones where everyone turned up but never all at the same time. I did so on board Amtrak's 1:06 p.m. train to Ann Arbor after being seen off by Number One Grandson and his Mom who braved a driving rain to get me to downtown Chicago in time.

Luck was with us, though, since that very precipitation had been forecast as four inches-of-better-of snow. I might still have been in Glenview had the weatherman been correct.

As the train pulled out, exactly on time (airlines, take note) I had the choice of viewing, snoozing, writing, reading or eating. Having done far too much of the latter over the weekend, I opted for brief spells of the other four. Observing the countryside, however, lost out quickly since February just doesn't paint a very pretty picture with its dreariness. The gloom, coupled with some incredibly dirty waysides, proved to be one gigantic turn-off.

There was little chance for people watching (a favorite pastime) or chatting with a seatmate since I counted only 19 in our nonsmoking car for 84. Two mother-toddler duos, a few businessmen and couples, a family threesome, a leftover from the hippy era, several young women and one sailor were overseen by two retirement-aged conductors.

The fella in the bell-bottoms (are they still belled?) brought to mind my first and only other train trip in this country. Coincidentally, it too was from Chicago. And the "navy" was on board that time as well, one tipsy swabbie insisting on serenading us three mid-teenagers with "Babalu."

I recall vividly the elegance of the dining car where everything was silver and crystal and linen and how the trappings impressed me. Nineteen eight-three's version — a club car directly behind us — offered only a minimal menu across a stark and rather ugly bar.

I was surprised, though, to find the seats very comfortable, the temperature just right for sweater-wearing and the surroundings remarkably clean!

The constant sway of the car and the hypnotic click of the wheels were mighty conducive to wee naps and I found myself relaxing and nodding off intermittently. It was a pleasant way to travel and I couldn't help but wonder why the rail system in this country has taken such a nosedive.

With no one to interrupt, I had lots of time to mull over the events and observations of my mini-holiday in Illinois.

I learned:

- that people there are even slower about removing Christmas decorations than we are. There were wreaths and roping everywhere.
- that chapeaux for m'lady are much more popular at church services than they are here. Some of the really smart ones gave me the urge to go shopping.
- that bridal shop "consultants" there are much more accommodating and solicitous of the bride-to-be than they are here.
- that you can still eat out for under five dollars a head and well. A review on an ethnic restaurant made believers out of us and we headed for Berwyn and Pilsner's softly-lighted, well-appointed dining room where a $4 "small" entree came complete with soup, potatoes or dumplings, vegetable, rolls and dessert. A good-sized tossed salad for 95 cents more completed the "large" portion.
- that you can also wine and dine rather elegantly without having to take a second mortgage on the house. James Tavern in Northbrook with its colonial American decor and menu is a favorite of mine and BG saw to it that we put away another of their terrific meals. If you're ever out that way, folks, don't miss it! Prices are unbelievably reasonable.
- that taking a 3 1/2-year-old to dinner at 7 p.m. wasn't bad at all. A "first" for this young man (an evening outing with us), he proved he could keep up with his grandmother in conversing with the waiter.

THE COLD FACTS, M'AM

• The common cold is more than just a nuisance, according to U.S. Health statisticians; it's a burden on the nation's economy. More than 90 percent of us get between two and three colds a year, costing our economy $6 billion in lost workdays and work we botch due to the illness.

• Influenza got its name in the 17th century from the Italians because they thought the disease was caused by the influence of certain planets.

• The average American is sick in bed seven days a year, missing five days of work — often suffering from a cold.

THE BOTTOM LINE: The best time to put children to bed is while you still have the strength.

AUSMUS-BOYETTE

A summer wedding is being planned by Carol Ruth Ausmus and Donald Boyette whose engagement is announced by her parents, John and Lois Ausmus of 19123 Sumpter Rd., Belleville. The bride-elect, a senior at Belleville High School, has chosen a July 16 altar date. Her fiancé, the son of Lois Helen Boyette of 22265 Bohn Rd., Belleville, works as a mechanic for the Welt Oil Company of Belleville.

By MRS. JOSEPH SPRING 699-4021

Mrs. and Mrs. Charles McKelvey were dinner guests Monday evening, Jan. 31, at the home of their son Richard and his wife, Linda, of Romulus in celebration of Charles' birthday which was Feb. 1. Also present were another son, Glenn, his wife, Janet, and their family from Flushing.

Another birthday celebration was held on Sunday, Jan. 30, at the home of Nancy and David Abbe of Ann Arbor in honor of the former's mother, Mrs. Clinton (Ruth) Baehr, whose birthday was Jan. 31. Also present at the family dinner were Ruth's husband, Clinton and members of the Abbe family.

After having been a resident at Glacier Hills Home in Ann Arbor for several weeks, Mrs. Hazel Greashaber is now back at her home on West Columbia Avenue.

Mrs. Rosemary Knapp of Marshall was a week-end guest of Mrs. Elda Bohl of Robson Road. While here they visited Westgate Chapter, OES and on Saturday attended a meeting of the Michigander Club in St. Clair Shores.

Vincent Goodnuff and Dennis Moriarity were among the many who attended the Amateur Radio Show held at Southfield High School on Sunday of last week.

Mrs. Harvey Stabnau was a week-end guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Menish of Redondo Beach, Calif., and her daughter, Suzanne Stabnau.

The Menishes are in the process of moving to Washington, D.C., where he has accepted a new job.

Mrs. Clayton Saunders was a Tuesday luncheon guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Saunders of East Detroit at a Belleville restaurant.

On Thursday of last week Mrs. Louis Brannatto entertained at an afternoon tea at her home on Bedell Street honoring her aunt, Mrs. Edna Lehmann of Amasa, a former teacher in the Van Buren Schools. Seven former teachers were present to enjoy visiting and talking over "old school days" with her. Mrs. Lehmann left for her home the next Saturday after having spent a week with her niece and husband.

Mrs. Norma Nagle of Dearborn spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Ruth Roulo of Liberty Street.

George Powell and Vincent Goodnuff were in Ann Arbor last Monday evening to attend a meeting of the Royal Select Masters held at the Masonic Temple.

New on the scene

Angela Rose Knofski • Tabitha Anne Knofski

There's a twin bill playing these late winter days at the Romulus home of Fred and Cindy Knofski who, on the first of February, welcomed a "matched set" of baby daughters.

Making their debut at Wayne County General Hospital, Angela Rose weighed in a 5 lbs. - 12 ozs. and measured 19 inches at 9:45 p.m. while her twin, Tabitha Anne, weighed 5 lbs. - 10 ozs. and measured 18½ inches at 10:27 p.m.

Two young men on hand to welcome them home were their big brothers, Joshua Adam, who's four, and Andrew Stephen, two.

The children's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Knofski Sr. of Romulus and Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Coley of Livonia. Four great-grandmothers adding to their family trees included Mrs. Bernice Cox of Willis; Mrs. Donna Pearson of Belleville; Mrs. Lillian Coley of Livonia and Mrs. Norene Laster of Heber Springs, Ark.

The twins' mom is the former Cindy Coley.

Jessica Lynn Walker • Ashley Marie Walker

Babies also came in pairs for Westland residents, John and Ann Marie Walker of Tomahawk Street who have been lullabying twin daughters since their arrival Dec. 19 at Botsford Hospital.

Jessica Lynn bowed in at 12:45 p.m., weighed 8 lbs. - 3 ozs. and measured 22 inches while her "younger" sister arrived two minutes later, at 12:47 p.m. at a weight of 8 lbs. - 11 ozs. and measurement of 21½ inches. According to a hospital spokesman, the babies were the largest twins ever born at Botsford.

The proud grandparents are Bertha Zarzycki of Westland and John and Margaret Walker of Belleville. Taking bows in the great-grandparent division are Margaret Drennan of Decatur, Ga. and Maggie Nida, also of Georgia.

On hand to welcome his new sisters home was John Leon Walker III, who's 3½-years-old.

St. Valentine's Day "For the Birds"?

While everyone celebrates St. Valentine's Day as a special day for lovers to remember each other with confections and cards, no one really knows how the sweet tradition got started.

According to legend and lore surrounding the February 14 holiday, the first Valentine "coosome twosomes" may well have been couples of amorous birds.

This idea, reports the National Confectioners Association, is based on a belief from the Middle Ages that birds mated on February 14. While it's doubtful that these early "lovebirds" were also responsible for the tradition of giving candy on St. Valentine's Day, there is some literary support for the February 14th mating theory.

William Shakespeare in "A Midsummer Night's Dream" wrote "Good morrow friends, St. Valentine's is past. Begin these wood birds but to couple now." Chaucer credited the birds in Parlement of Foules with "For this was on St. Valentine's Day when every bird cometh there to choose his mate."

As to how confections came to be the "sweet way" to express affection, one can only speculate. According to the 17th century diarist, Samuel Pepys, lovers exchanged mementos like gloves, rings and sweetmeats on St. Valentine's Day. The American colonists said "I Love You" on February 14 with confections like sugar wafers, marshpanes, pasteys, roundels and sugar plums, according to newspaper ads of the period.

Other theories relating to the origins of St. Valentine's Day include one that it was a Roman festival honoring the goddess Juno, special protector of women and marriage. On that day the names of eligible young women were placed in a box, young men drew out names and the couples were so mated.

Still another historical legend claims that St. Valentine was an imprisoned Roman priest who was believed to have restored the sight of his jailor's blind daughter and, because of this feat, was martyred. In fact, early lists of church martyrs showed no less than eight St. Valentines, all of whom celebrated their feast day on February 14.

While you may think all of these theories about how St. Valentine's Day began are "for the birds," modern lovebirds agree that it is a sweet tradition that calls for a gift of sweets to remember someone very special on that special day.

Q&A

Q. What kind of green house plant is it that has those long, furry, droopy, bright red flowers that look like cats' tails?

A. It's the chenille plant (Acalypha hispida). It's a shrubby plant that bears a furry flower at the end of each branch. Under the proper conditions — warm temperatures (80-85 degrees F during the day and a night minimum of 58-60), bright light and high humidity — blossoming may persist most of the year.

Q. What's the procedure for growing an orange tree from seeds? Will it ever produce fruit for me?

A. To answer your second question first, no — an orange tree grown as a houseplant from seed will probably never flower and bear fruit. It should grow into an attractive, glossy-leaved plant, however. To start one, take the seeds directly from the fruit — don't let them dry out — and plant them about ¼ inch deep in moist soil. Keep the soil moist but not soaking wet. It may take some weeks for the seeds to germinate, but once they start to grow, they'll grow quickly.

Q. What's the difference between a sowbug and a pillbug?

A. Basically, the only difference is that the pillbug can roll up into a ball when it's disturbed — the sowbug can't.

Views On Dental Health
By
SHERMAN H. KANE, D.D.S.

GREATEST CAUSE OF TOOTH LOSS
Lack of cavities do not necessarily indicate a healthy mouth. In fact, you can lose all your teeth while never having a cavity. How? From "periodontal disease" — the greatest single cause of tooth loss in adults!
Periodontal disease is a condition involving gums, the tissues around the teeth, and even the supporting bone in advanced cases. Some of the symptoms are loosening of teeth, or bleeding, red, flabby or swelling gums.
In most cases, there is little or no pain at first, making it easy to convince yourself that there is nothing really wrong. Be aware of a passive attitude. It is estimated that 95% of the population has some kind of gum disease at some time in life, mostly after age 35.
There are home care regimens to prevent periodontal disease and dental treatments to stop it. But there is only one way to catch the problem. Get treatment in time — before serious damage is done.

A must for Bowie fans

DAVID BOWIE

DAVID BOWIE
"Rare"
(RCA Import)

An absolute "must" for Bowie fans, "Rare" brings together on LP for the first time many of the hard to find "b" sides that he has released through the years.

For instance, there's "Ragazzo Solo, Ragazzo Solo," which is "Space Oddity" — Bowie's first big hit — sung in Italian. The original 45 goes for upwards of one hundred dollars to collectors, so few people on this side of the Atlantic have heard this 15-year-old curiosity.

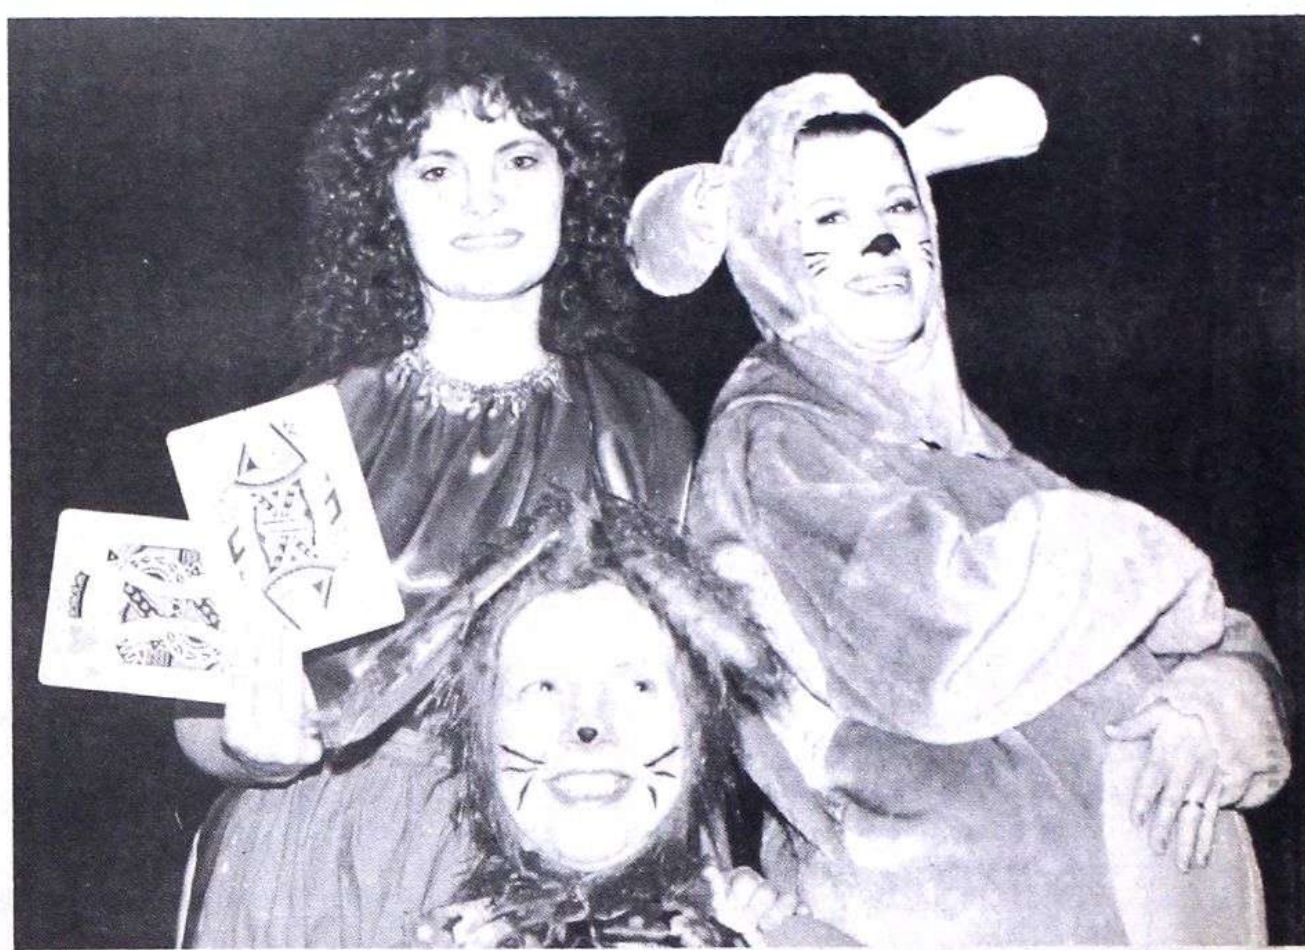

Two outtakes from the classic "Hunky Dory" sessions are also included, both of which include as players the Spiders, featuring Mick Ronson, Trevor Bolder, and Mick Woodmansey. "Holy Holy" and "Velvet Goldmine" are both quite good, and if anyone cares, Rick Wakeman (remember him?) plays piano on the latter.

Other highlights include Bowie's version of "The Alabama Song," written by Weill and Brecht and made popular by Jim Morrison and the Doors; a live version of "Panic In Detroit" that is highly latinized (from the "Young Americans" tour).

Jaques Brel's minor masterpiece "Amsterdam" is given a fine rendering by Bowie, accompanied only by Ronson's guitar. "John, I'm Only Dancing (Again — 1975)" has little in common with the original (found on "Changes One"), but Bowie proved he was adept at doing "soul" with "Fame," and this is certainly a better effort than that. Note that Luther Vandross, now very popular in his own right, was singing back-up with Bowie at this time.

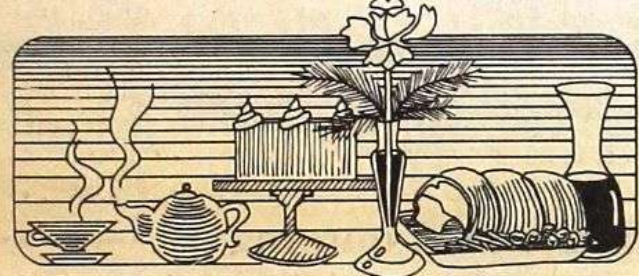

The album's hottest cut is a (See BOWIE, Page B-4)

AAUW in 'Wonderland'

Graduate performer

Mary Eldridge (right), the daughter of Gilbert and Pauline Eldridge of Wayne has started her second year as a performer at the Hilberry Repertory Theatre in Detroit, a member of Wayne State University's Graduate Fellowship Company. During her undergraduate days she was awarded the Eva Woodbridge Victor Scholarship as well as a Bonstelle Acting Award for her portrayal of Kate in "The Taming of the Shrew." This year she will be seen as Joan in "St. Joan," as Margaret in "The Hasty Heart," and as Nina in "The Seagull." The Wayne State Graduate Company is composed of 22 actors, 20 technicians and six management personnel representing 19 states and Canada.

Bowie is in 'Rare' form-----

version of Chuck Berry's "Round and Round," which was originally recorded for inclusion on the brilliant "Ziggy Stardust" LP. Mick Ronson's guitar riff literally screams through the speakers, and for my money Bowie never sounded better than he did back then.
These are just a few of the gems on "Rare," which (so far at least) is only available as an import, and record stores are selling it like the proverbial hot-cakes. Available at Dearborn Music and Schoolkids Records in Ann Arbor.

RIC OCASEK
"Beatitude"
(Geffen)

Ric Ocasek, the lanky lead singer and songwriting genius behind the Cars, has just released his long-promised solo album. It's not great, but it's worth having.

Named after a 50's publication of the Beat poets, Ocasek has opened up the door on his somewhat-obvious influences. He recently admitted to Boston Rock magazine that his main inspirations have come from the Beat poets — Jack Kerouac, William Burroughs, Ferlingetti and others. This helps to explain how Ocasek has often taken banal lines and made them memorable, for instance "Let The Good Times Roll."

Wayne retains WW swimming title

Head, Hathorne, Jensen are 'double winners'

Obtaining key performances in the finals, defending champ Wayne Memorial on Saturday successfully defended its Western Wayne Swimming & Diving title.

Wayne swept six of the 11 first places en route to 348 points to turn back its closest challenger Westland John Glenn which placed second with 242 points.

"We swam much better in the finals than we did in the preliminaries," Wayne coach Jim McPartlin noted. "It was a good meet for us and we got key performances when we had to and that was the difference."

Wayne also received a record-setting performance from senior Eric Head in the 50-yard freestyle. Head was one of two Wayne swimmers who captured a pair of gold medals. Matt Hathorne also turned in with a couple of first place efforts.

He beat Livonia Franklin's Dennis Keller to the wire in the 50-yard freestyle as he churned a 22.5, then he took his second gold for a 49.3 clocking in the 100-yard freestyle.

Hathorne led teammate Brian Byndas to the finish in the 200-yard freestyle, winning the event with a 1:50.3 clocking. Byndas's time showed 1:54.2 for the second place.

Hathorne also won the 100-yard butterfly thanks to a 56.6 performance. Teammate Steve Soules was second (57.4).

Kirk Wick continued to impress on the diving boards where he compiled 411.6 points to capture a gold medal.

Coach McPartlin also put the best 400-yard freestyle relay team in the pool when he chose Byndas, Mike Wichowski, Hathorne and Head who were clocked in 3:27.4.

Westland John Glenn started the finals with a victory in the 200-yard medley relay as coach Larry McConnell used Dave Ford, Matt Wilcox, Mike Jensen and Mark Winfrey for the event. The four-some turned in the winning time of 1:51.8.

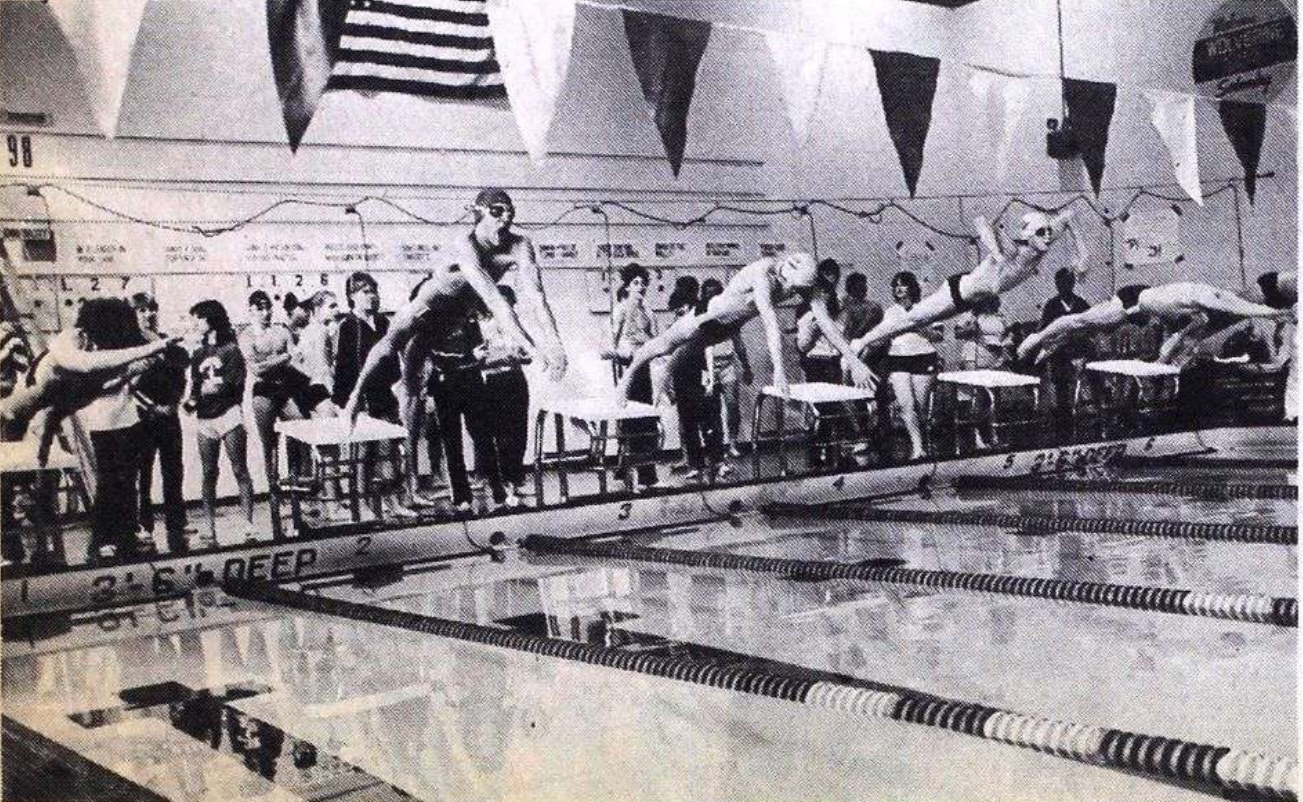

Jensen proved to be the best 200-yard individual medley swimmer in the field when he covered the distance in 2:11.7, and he picked up his third medal when he beat Soules for the gold in the 100-yard backstroke.

The Westlanders produced another champ in the 500-yard freestyle when Brian Pawlowicz came through with a 5:10.2 effort.

With the Wayne-Westland schools going 1-2 at the invitational, Redford Thurston finished third followed by Wyandotte and Livonia Franklin which finished in a two-way tie for third place. Garden City was sixth, followed by Dearborn Heights Annapolis and Robichaud.

Cherry Hill will host the Second Phase of the annual championships as Belleville, Plymouth Salem, Livonia Churchill, Livonia Bentley, Dearborn Heights Crestwood and Livonia Stevenson invade the Spartan pool over the weekend.

The preliminaries are scheduled for Friday at 4 p.m., while the finals will be conducted on Saturday beginning at 4 p.m.

They're off

Eight area teams were represented in Phase I of the Western Wayne Swimming & Diving Championships staged over the weekend at Wayne Memorial and when the competition ended the host managed to successfully defend its title. Above, swimmers get off for a splashing start for the 500 yard freestyle which was captured by Westland John Glenn's Brian Pawlowicz.

Eagles end 5-game losing skid

Romulus humbles Huron, 78-58

Although it took them three periods to unwind, Romulus erupted for 29 points in the final quarter to shake off a pesky New Boston Huron basketball team and win a 78-58 decision. The victory ended a five-game losing streak for coach Al Wilkerson's Eagles who are 3-11 on the season.

"I felt we played a decent brand of ball game in the second half," said Wilkerson who takes his charges to Ypsilanti on Friday where he will get a preview of the district playoffs. (Ypsilanti is host for the annual March tournament).

"But Huron came ready to play, and we weren't in that first half," Wilkerson added.

Led by Dennis Edmonds who scored a team high 18 points and Kevin Schewe who had 15 points, Huron grabbed a 20-16 first period lead. The Eagles responded with 6-7 junior Grant Long's all around effort and cut the lead 35-33 in their favor at half. Then, Romulus outscored the Chiefs 14-13 in the third period, and broke the game open with a 29-13 wedge the final eight minutes.

Long made eight field goals and sank 3 of 5 at the foul line for 19 points. He also nailed down 19 rebounds. However, teammate Kevin Baker topped all scorers with a career high 25 points.

"I feel that Ypsi will be an excellent test for this team," Wilkerson offered. "They always have a fine team and this year's is no exception."

The Braves will host the 8 p.m. encounter.

Glenn is upset victim in 73-71 GC win

As the song says, the sun will come out tomorrow.

But certainly for the Rockets of Westland John Glenn, the sun didn't shine on them last Friday night as they suffered a heart-breaking, tear-jerking 73-71 loss to Garden City on a last-second 60-foot shot by the Cougars' Brad Emery.

The loss dealt a setback to the Rockets' hopes of wearing the Northwest Suburban league crown this year, but there are still three games to go, including the rematch tomorrow night with unbeaten Redford Thurston.

Friday night's game against Garden City was a far cry from the one they played the previous Tuesday against Farmington Harrison. Unlike the GC game which was close all the way, the Rockets took command of the Harrison game early and coasted to an easy 58-40 victory.

Senior Paul Grazulis, who had scored a career-high 22 points in the Harrison game, started off like a house afire. Hitting the first nine points for the Rockets, Grazulis was taking charge on the boards and had GC on the run.

But a quick time-out by GC head coach Bob Dropp changed the momentum. The Cougars roared back with a 9-2 run themselves as the standing-room-only crowd began warming to the occasion (and in the GC gym, it doesn't take long). Scott McCloskey (6-4, 170, Junior) connected for 8 points and Tom Ferrell (6-0, 145, Sr.) hit five free throws.

The second half was a dogfight. The lead changed hands five times in the first two minutes of the third quarter. But GC's McCloskey caught fire again as he led a charge at the end of the quarter and into the final stanza. Glenn trailed, 50-47, at the end of three but stayed close as Grazulis scored 10 points.

With 6:09 left in the final stanza, Garden City led, 57-49, and the Cougar were beginning to celebrate. However, the fun was just beginning for everyone.

The Rockets began a 22-14 surge that ended with the game tied at 71-71. Gill, playing probably the best game of his varsity career, scored 13 points in the quarter for Glenn. Steve Jaskolski tied the game at 65 with 2:04 left on two clutch free throws.

Garden City kept pace with McCloskey adding two free throws to his game-high 27 points before fouling out. Chris DiMaya (6-3, 165, Sr.) contributed nine points to the cause and was instrumental in the Cougar attack in the fourth quarter. Despite not starting, DiMaya scored 15 points on the evening.

The Rockets missed three free throws in the final seconds of the game, including one that would have given them a 72-71 lead with two seconds left.

Those two seconds seemed like an eternity to the Rocket fans (which turned into a point of contention at the end) as the Cougars' Emery dribbled the ball to the half court line and let fly with the ball. It sailed through the hoop without hitting the rim and GC had pulled off a stunning upset.

Tigers to try to get back on Sub 8 title track

With Edsel Ford unexpectedly detouring their title express in Dearborn last Friday, Belleville hopes to get back on the title track Friday night when Coach Tom Niemi's Tigers host Trenton.

Mourning the loss of two young athletes who were killed in an auto accident, Edsel Ford stopped Belleville 67-64 to hand the Tigers their first Suburban '8' Conference basketball loss of the campaign.

"There was a lot of emotion involved in this ball game," Niemi noted. "Not only did they lose those two fine youngsters in the crash, the coach's father also passed away last week. They had dedicated the game to these three people."

The loss left Belleville with a 3-1 conference and a 10-3 over-all mark. (The Tigers were scheduled to play Dearborn Fordson Tuesday night).

"Obviously we can't afford to lose any more games in the league if we want this title," Niemi added. "I feel we'll be able to regroup."

Edsel Ford took advantage of 33 of 49 free throws of which Tom Hughes pumped in 19 of 24. This was the difference in the ball game. Although the T-Birds worked their way to a 14-5 first period lead, the game remained in doubt until the final seconds.

Belleville came back to within a basket of tying it after trailing by 10, (36-26) at the intermission. With Bobby Edwards and Mike Mellon supplying the scoring and rebound power respectively, the Tigers nearly pulled it off.

Edwards scored 11 of his team's 22 third period points and finished the game with 18. Mellon came up with 11 points and 11 rebounds while Julius Roberson chipped in 12 points.

"This is the first time that I can recall that we only allowed three field goals for the entire second half and lost it," Niemi said. "They got the rest of their points at the foul line."

Earlier in the week Belleville traveled to Windsor to take on Lowe, a team which was coming off a victory at the London (Ont.) Invitational Tournament.

"I was really proud of the kids in Canada," Niemi said after the Tigers earned a hard-fought 47-43 defensive battle. "We defeated an excellent team which had a front line that was 6-6 and 6-8."

Troy Thomas got the Tigers in the winning mood as he flipped in five of his game his 16 points in the second period to lead Belleville to a 25-17 first half advantage. Lowe led 12-10 after the first period.

Although Belleville held a 13-12 edge in the third stanza, Lowe turned around and outscored their visitors 14-11 in the last quarter.

"The defense was the difference in this game," Niemi said. "We shut down an excellent team."

Hayley's MVP

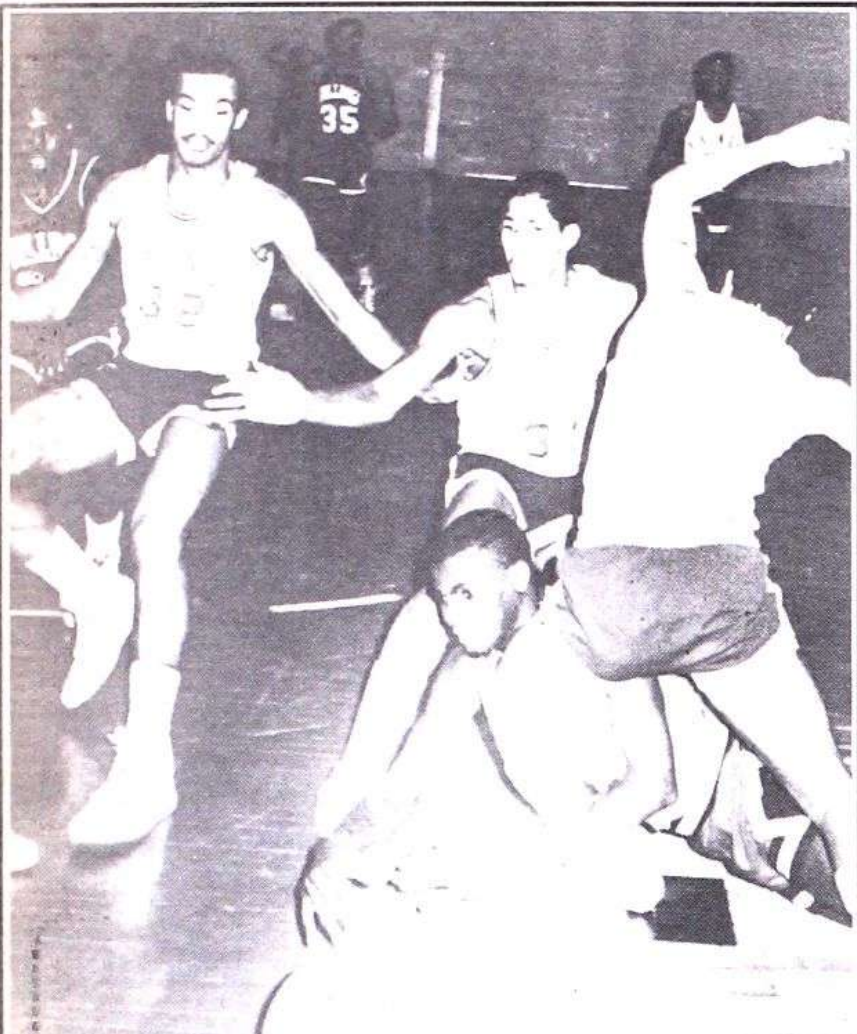

The National Youth Hockey League received a helping hand from Westlander Dallas Hayley who scored two goals and assisted on another in lifting Dearborn Adray over the Dearborn Police, 6-4, in a benefit game last week.

Hayley, who plays for the Dearborn Adray Midget "A" club, also was voted the game's Most Valuable Player.

Champs again

Defending champ Wayne Memorial parlayed a strong team performance in the finals with six first places to retain the 1983 Western Wayne Swimming & Diving Championship. Coach Jim McPartlin's swimmers pose with the coveted first place trophy immediately after claiming the award Saturday at Wayne High. Eight teams took part in Phase I of the competitions. On Saturday, Phase II will be held at Inkster Cherry Hill.

In a tight squeeze

Sandwiched between Inkster's David Pasley (11) and Anthony White's (31) knees is Robichaud's Jarvis Walker who has his eyes glued on a loose ball. Watching the action is Inkster's Andrea Skinner, who's satisfied that his teammates have the situation under control. Inkster made it past their rivals in a tight squeeze, earning a 57-53 victory to stay alive in the Suburban Athletic Conference title chase.

Futurama zeroes in on one title

With Brock Builders and Family Heating in "hot pursuit", Futurama continues to set the pace in the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Bonkowski Division Hockey League.

Futurama's managed to stay atop of the field thanks to a 6-3 victory over fourth-place Jake's Lounge.

Futurama's victory over Jake's Lounge by a score boosted the victors into sole possession of first place. Mike Villemure tallied for three goals and one assist. Ken Murray scored twice and received two assists while Erroll Pulk accounted for the final goal.

John McFaddin and Bill Liedel finished with two assists and Claud Johnston and Don Middaugh also had two.

Jake's Lounge got on the scoreboard with Arnie Cox tallying for one goal and one assist, while Paul Mayworm and Dave Roberts carded a goal apiece. Dennis LaPensee picked up two assists while Ken Beaz and Roger Wodgenske received one assist.

Rick Wolkowicz had a hot night for All Sorts Sports by scoring all five goals to give All Sorts Sports a 5-0 shutout over Mic-Dago Pub. Tom DiLaura picked up three assists.

Dave Cherry and Ed Spontack finished with two assists. Nelson Vanderburgh received one assist in the contest.

Little Bill's Trophies scored four goals in the final period to card a 7-3 victory over Taste Freez. Terry Johnson logged a hat trick and picked up one assist; Dave Zajac tallied for two goals and one assist; Keith Middaugh scored one goal and picked up three assists while Mike McGraw accounted for one goal.

Gene Tauriainen and Moe Paquette each scored one goal and picked up one assist for Taste Freez. Barry Anderson accounted for the final goal while Tom Pnackia, Tom Schwartz and Nick Pause finished with one assist.

Johnson's Carbonic logged a 3-2 victory over Etronic as Mike O'Shea and Dave Fishwick scored one goal and picked up one assist with Layne Cardinal accounting for one goal. Ron Johnson picked up two assists as Joe Soukup finished with one assist.

Ralph Tack and Jerry Robertson scored for Etronic. Both goals were unassisted.

Brock Builders' shutout Family Heating 7-0 to earn a second place tie. Jim McMaster and Ken Howe scored twice with McMaster also picking up one assist. Dave Frankling tallied once and received three assists. John Castellanos and Marv Borycki accounted for a goal apiece. Bob Wood, Ed Harmon and Paul Kos finished the game with one assist.

Looking to Sunday, Feb. 13: Brock Builders will host Futurama at 6 p.m.; Etronic and Family Heating take the ice at 7:15 p.m.; Mic-Dago Pub skates against Jake's Lounge at 8:30 p.m.; All Sorts Sports will play Little Bill's Trophies at 9:45 p.m.; Taste Freez will take the ice at 11 p.m. against Johnson's Carbonic.

CLAUDETTE CLINE

Cline's runnin' strong

Claudette Cline, a junior from Romulus on Western Michigan University's women's track team, turned in a pair of strong performances in helping the Broncos to a 71-38 dual meet victory here over Eastern Michigan.

The Romulus High graduate ran one leg of the team's winning effort in the 1,600-meter relay, which was clocked at 3:56.1. She also placed second in the 600-meter run, with a time of 1:36.4.

The meet with EMU was Western's only scheduled meet of the indoor season. The Broncos are coached by Debbie Hunt.

Inkster hangs on to edge Robichaud

It was a "typical" Inkster-Robichaud basketball game. The standing-room-only crowd — with fans stacked in the gym hallways — was on hand. Robichaud, again the underdog, never quit and battled until the last second. But again the Bulldogs never quite had enough scoring power to stop their natural rivals, Inkster.

Inkster hung on to win 57-53 to remain in the chase for the Suburban Athletic Conference title. That chase, however, will take Coach George Thompson Jr. and his Vikings to Highland Park, the unbeaten SAC leader.

However, unfortunately for the Vikings there is a two-week layoff before they resume competition.

"We don't have any games scheduled until Feb. 18 when we play Highland Park," Thompson revealed, "and that's going to hurt us. There's a fluke in our schedule, and I'm going to try to fill the void with a couple of scrimmages, but that's not like when you're actually out there playing."

Inkster has padded its SAC record to 4-1 and hopes to avenge its only league loss, a last second setback at the hands of the Parkers when they meet again.

Robichaud tried its best to even the score with the Vikings who has beaten the Bulldogs twice before at the Inkster Holiday Classic and also in SAC play.

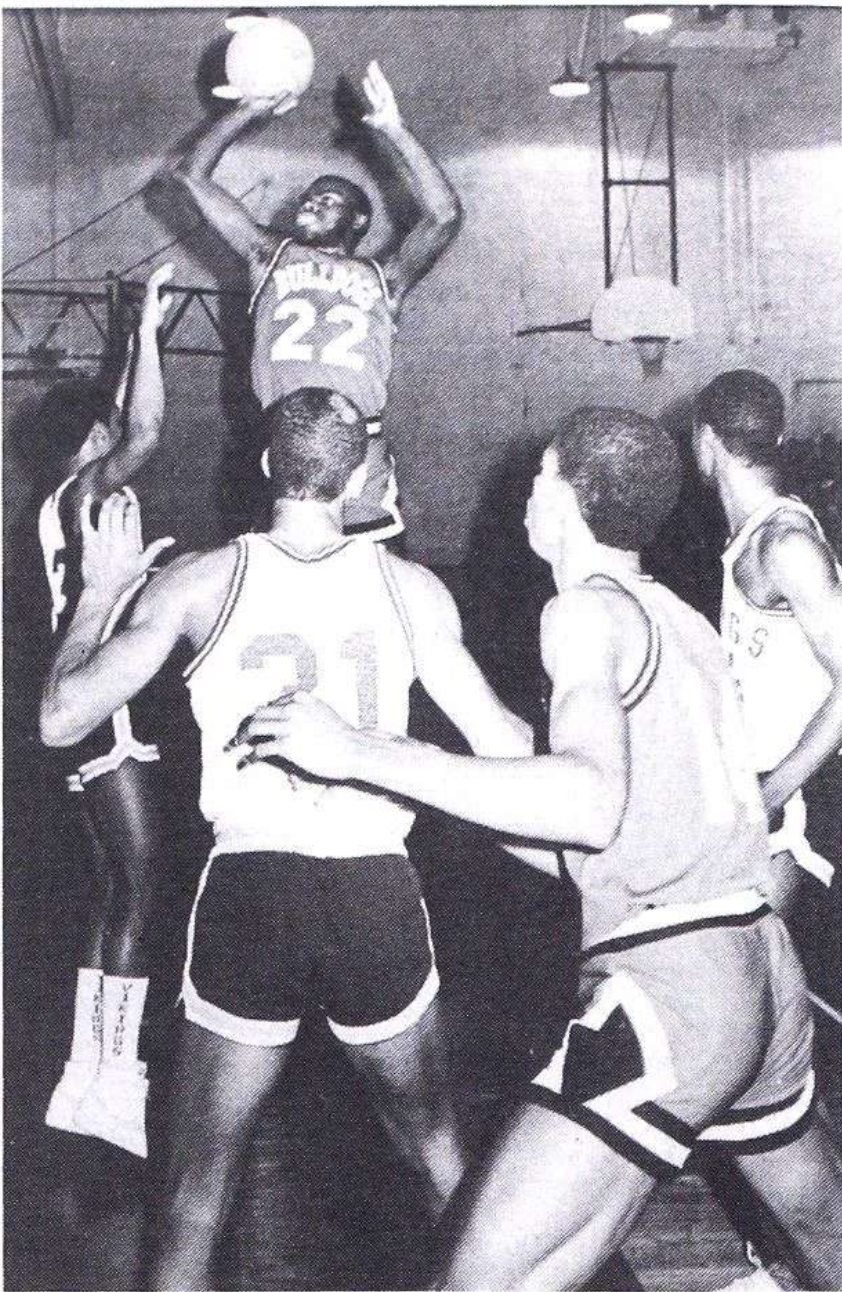

With Viking ace George Davis and Jerome Lloyd comfortably seated on the bench in the first period, Robichaud took advantage of their host as Jarvis Walker sank six of his 14 points to lead the Bulldogs to an 18-13 advantage.

Davis was turned loose in the second period and he helped erase the deficit. The 6-5 senior grabbed six rebounds and tossed in five points to move his team out in front 29-28 at the halfway mark.

Again, it was Davis who teamed with Anthony Avant that kept the Vikings out of Bulldog range most of the second half. Outscored 17-10 in the third period, Robichaud closed within one point in the final 50 seconds of the game but Davis sank both ends of a one-and-one to seal the victory.

Davis wound up with a team high 15 points which equalled Robichaud David McIntosh's output. Avant chipped in 14 points. Walker was the only other cager with double figures. He had 14.

"I felt that Springer (William) played an exceptional all-around game for us," Thompson said. "We had our problems and we're going to have to face up to them."

This above all

Robichaud's Jarvis Walker (22) leaps high to fire this shot at Inkster's basket in last Friday's showdown in the Suburban Athletic Conference. The grounded Vikings had problems stopping the Bulldogs' sharpshooter who drilled in 14 points, but Inkster managed to wind up on top of a 57-53 close one to remain in the SAC title picture.

Earlier in the week, Inkster crushed Clawson 77-64 in a game labeled as "very physical." Avant teamed with Arnold Dixon to split 46 of the Vikings' points while Davis aided the balanced scoring attack with 19 points.

Ranked in the top 10 Class B teams in the state, the Vikings now are 12-4 on the season.

bowled occasionally until being talked into joining a league recently at Super Bowl. On her third league night she roared off to a very nice 258 game to set quite a personal mark to try and surpass in the future.

Cathy Borowski went well over her 148 average by hitting a 252 game and 594 series; Carrie Miller, rolling in the 15-18 year old group, had games of 210-241-214 for a 655 series; and Rene Keppen hit 222-211 for a 624 total.

Fiesta Lanes had Ernie Gazdag Jr. rolling in fine mid-season form when he hit that perfect 300 game and a 736 series; Tim Deatherage hit 730; Jim Camden went 125 pins over average for a 276 game; Bill Donaldson also flirted with fame on 10 in a row for 286; and Rick Lappan was 94 pins over average with his 265 game. The senior citizens were well represented when Ether Haner went 124 points over average for a 463 total and Gerry LeGault was 115 pins over with a 460 series.

Lodge Lanes number one shooter was Tony Jacobs with a 279 game; John Roll was on a roll when he hit 267 and 699; Fred Domen had a 266; Keith Swafford hit 255; and 17 year old, Brian Melidosian, led the younger set with a 244 game to cap this week's scoring news.

Romulus to host pro boxers

The Romulus Boosters Club, in cooperation with Romulus Friends of Recreation, is sponsoring a professional boxing card at the Romulus High School on Wed. Feb. 23 at 7:30 p.m.

The main event, a ten rounder, will feature Alvin "too sweet" Hayes vs. Forest Winchester. Hayes, who boxes out of the Powerhouse Gym, bills himself as the world's tallest lightweight at 6'1". He currently holds a 16-0 record and is aiming toward a national ranking. Winchester, who hails from Columbus, Ohio, is former world lightweight champion Hilmer Kenty's half brother. Forest is currently undefeated at 15-0.

An eight round semi-main event will feature undefeated (11-0) Detroit jr. middleweight Wayne "troubleman" Powell against Steve William (9-8), from Chicago.

Tickets are priced at $10 for general admission and $25 ringside. Also included with a ringside ticket is a cocktail party at the Airport Hilton Inn immediately following the event. Participants will attend.

Proceeds of this event will go toward assisting the city and school's athletic programs. For further information, call the Romulus Dept. of Parks and Recreation's Dennis Davidson at 941-0666 ext. 254.

Tell me about your high gas heating bills and I'll tell you how you can save up to 20%* with Ameri-Therm.

For years I've talked with people who are tired of wasting fuel and money. Gas rates keep going up, so they come to me for advice.

Every day, for homeowners like you, I correct the money-wasting problem of gas energy loss with Ameri-Therm® Vent Dampers.

The problem is very common:

When a furnace, boiler or water heater shuts off, warm air is quickly lost up the chimney. Energy escapes, but you still end up paying for it.

People want to save as much as they can, so I tell them to keep heat inside with an Ameri-Therm Vent Damper.

Ameri-Therm is the thermally actuated vent damper that's:

- Proven in millions of locations.
- Saves up to 20%* on fuel bills.
- Popular choice of American homeowners.
- Five year limited warranty.
- Thermally actuated to operate efficiently with no wires, electricity, or other power source.
- Eligible for 15% tax credit.
- Available for gas furnaces, boilers and water heaters.

—Love at first sight—

Sue and Carl Taylor

It was a hot night in July more than 30 years ago when Sue Key first saw Carl Taylor. He was sitting behind the wheel of a red convertible parked in a drive-in restaurant in Panama City, Fla., when she, her brother, sister and a friend drove in for dinner.

"We parked right next to him and he looked over at me and just sort of growled like, deep in his throat — I growled back and that was that," Sue reminisced. The red convertible and the growling resulted in three children and the upcoming celebration March 20 of the Taylor's twenty-ninth wedding anniversary.

Love at first sight, they both agree, but much more than that has made their marriage work and remain strong throughout nearly three decades together.

"It's the same now as the first day we met. Our love has just grown and keeps growing," Sue said.

After the drive-in meeting, the pair began to date. Carl was stationed at Camp Rucker in Alabama with the Army and Sue was living nearby in Birmingham. They began writing and Carl would spend every weekend pass driving to Birmingham to be with her. At Christmas he presented her with an engagement ring and an offer she couldn't refuse. They married the following March when Carl was discharged from the Army.

The wedding, planned for months, took place in the YMCA Chapel in Birmingham, and Sue's sister, Violet Young, acted as maid of honor with Kilby Taylor, Carl's brother assuming the duties of best man. Following the nuptials, the couple was honored at a cake and punch reception with more than 30 guests attending.

They toured the Carolinas on their honeymoon as they made their way back to Michigan where Carl had a job waiting. They lived in Westland for a number of years and now reside in Wayne.

The Taylors are also business partners and own Century 21 Taylor and Associates Realty in Wayne, which, according to Sue, is a real testament to their compatibility. "We've worked together for 11 years, and there aren't too many couples who can work in the same office," Sue noted.

"You have to give and take in marriage. You have to be willing to give and you have to be willing to take," Sue commented. "That's the secret of marriage."

"Devotion," Carl added — "Devotion to each other. Sue and I made a commitment, a rather strong one and that's what we live by. We stick to that commitment. We devoted our bodies, minds and souls to that commitment and that's what we believe in."

"You know, society may look a little differently at things today, but the basics are still there. What built a strong marriage 30 years ago is the same today," Carl added. "And love, of course. That's what kept us together," Sue concluded.

—The art of romance—

Randy Birch appeared in the first performance at the Detroit Institute of Arts Nov. 29 as a bachelor — but the second show found him a married man.

If there truly is an art to the institution of marriage, Randy and his bride Sandy Popek, began their lives together in a most suitable fashion.

Sandy and Randy, both performing artists, were wed Nov. 29 in the first nuptial ceremony ever performed on the stage of the Detroit Institute of Arts in Detroit. The bride, the daughter of Tom and Sharon Popek of Wayne, has long been famous in the area for her numerous roles in school, community and college theater productions. The bridegroom is a member of a professional physical comedy team dubbed Arete which has performed all through the United States and in his native Canada.

3:00-5:00 p.m. Reception: The Crystal Gallery

The couple met, fittingly enough, at a drama workshop. Sandy had met the director of the drama department of the DIA when she auditioned there and Randy had performed at the art institute several times, so when Mickey Minor spotted two of his favorite people in the same room, it was only natural to introduce them. And that, according to all accounts, is all it took.

Randy forsook his planned vacation to Switzerland and spent the summer visiting Sandy who was serving an apprenticeship at the Star Theatre in Flint. In a matter of weeks, the wedding date was set, and Minor, feeling somewhat responsible, offered the DIA stage for the wedding.

Accepting with complete confidence, the bride-to-be then traveled to Canada to meet her future in-laws and acclimate herself to her future life — leaving the wedding arrangements in the capable hands of her mother.

She and Sharon planned the most intricate details of the wedding and reception with the extensive use of long-distance phone wires — and inspecting the DIA and its facilities and personnel was left to Sharon.

"They couldn't have been kinder. They'd never had a wedding before so it was new to them too, but they wanted everything as perfect as we did. We met several times at the institute for lunch to make arrangements and even the smallest detail was really important to them," she explained.

The food service department even prepared a menu, including drinks, to match the rose and white theme the bride chose and the sumptuous Crystal Gallery was selected as the site of the reception.

Wedding guests were treated to coffee and tea before being seated in the auditorium and then directed to their seats by the regular theatre ushers. As the lights dimmed and the music began, the couple's parents, and the wedding party marched onstage to music provided by a 160-pipe organ and harp following a candlelight ceremony. In an atmosphere of chandeliers, empire furniture and lighting, Sandy and Randy repeated vows before Rev. Robert Millard.

Guests were then treated to a performance by Arete, following a hasty change of attire by the groom and his attendants. Changing clothes again, the groom and wedding party greeted their guests in the recently redecorated gallery located on top of a sweeping marble staircase on the second floor of the museum.

According to Sharon, the gallery is undergoing renovations all during the wedding preparations and she was just how beautiful it would be until the work was completed. The institute staff moved the grand piano from orchestra hall to the gallery for the occasion and the bride's maid-of-honor and sister Susan and time friend Cherie Leja sang and entertained the guests with numerous show tunes. The trio formerly sang occasionally at local clubs and many joined in the song fest.

The couple will spend their honeymoon in the Orient as part of a cultural exchange program between China and Canada. Until then, the bride is learning her part of the group.

According to her mother, she'll have a good time keeping up with them... on their wedding night, one of the troupe members, a magician-juggler, switched rooms with the newlyweds, and the entire troupe, with guests, paid a visit to the bride and groom's suite at the Renaissance Center.

Sharon also noted that while the couple appreciated the beauty of the ceremony, those onstage were pretty nervous. "The entire event was being videotaped."

"We should have done well," she said, "we had five dress rehearsals."

A blossoming friendship

Jean and William Daniels

Mr. and Mrs. William Daniels—February, 1983

It was a friendship, gently begun, carefully cultivated and blossoming into a romance that has endured for nearly three decades.

When Jean Flowers began her teaching career in Inkster after graduating from Eastern Michigan University, she had no idea she would be meeting the man who would share her life. And, William Daniels, already established in his Inkster classroom, was just as unaware that she was about to make her entrance... but a mutual friend, also a teacher, introduced them at a faculty meeting.

Their acquaintance began as no more than pleasant conversation, and a sharing of professional views and small talk. That acquaintance led to a friendship followed by occasional dating. Eventually the pair realized that they were in the throes of a full-fledged romance, and became engaged in December of 1955.

They were wed Aug. 5, 1956 in St. Stephens Methodist Church in Detroit after nine months of meticulous planning. Acting as matron of honor for the couple was Venetia Ford, a sister of the bride and performing the duties of best man was Charles Miller, an uncle of the groom. Completing the wedding party were William H. Taylor, James Cunningham, Joseph Ford, Jacqueline Flowers, Marian Cunningham and Marilyn Mitchell. The newlyweds were honored at a reception attended by 300 guests at the home of the bride's parents in Detroit following the nuptials.

That was the first time.

The Daniels were married again in the fall of 1960 at Holy Family Catholic Church in Inkster after Jean converted to Catholicism. She was baptized, married and saw her daughter baptized all on the same day. At this ceremony, Warren and Sammie Bonam, now of Romulus, acted both as witnesses to the wedding and as Godparents to the Daniel's daughter, Tina, now 23.

Jean attributes the success of her marriage to "having a good sense of humor and a loving husband." And her husband seconds her opinion, adding, "I have a very kind and loving wife. She's very supportive and we work together, do things together and travel together."

Were the Daniels to offer any advice to young people considering marriage today, William has some very definite ideas — "You must work hard and share and share alike. And be kind to one another," he stressed.

"And," he added with a twinkle, "my wife always carries the checkbook."
